FEDERATION BARS POLITICAL ACTION; PEACE HOPE ENDS

Convention Votes To Continue 56-Year-Old Policy of Neutrality and Shoots Down Proposals To Head New Independent Party.

OPEN WAR THREAT IS MADE BY REBELS

Howard Says as Long as Bloc Is Suspended It Will Attempt To Draw Unions From A. F. of L.

By JOSEPH L. MILLER.

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 25.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor convention today shouted down proposals for the federation to lead an independent Labor party, and reaffirmed its "well-established nonpartisan political policy."

By an overwhelming vote, the delegates decided "nothing has happened since the last convention to justify any change" in this policy—adopted with the federation's formation 56 years ago.

Meantime, talk of peace with John Lewis' rebel unions all but vanished when Charles P. Howard, president of the Typographical Union, said he would try to bring additional A. F. of L. unions into the rebel ranks. Howard is secretary of Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

George M. Harrison, president of the railway clerks and chairman of the federation's peace committee, had explored the possibilities of a settlement with Max Zaritsky, president of the United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers and a member of Lewis' rebel committee.

Harrison's Statement.

Harrison also talked with Howard, and was considering a hasty trip to Washington to confer with Lewis when Howard burst forth with this statement:

"So long as the decision to uphold the suspension action of the executive council prevails, so long as the (Federation's executive) council continues to take to itself the right to penalize

Moore's Conviction Upheld in Carolina

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 25.—(AP)—The North Carolina supreme court today affirmed the death sentence of Martin Moore, giant negro who was convicted of slaying Helen Clevering, 19-year-old Staten Island girl, in her room at the Astoria hotel July 16.

Under the state's laws, the date automatically fixed December 11 as the date for execution of Moore in the prison gas chamber.

Although the appeal presented in the case did not meet the technical requirements, the justices considered the record submitted and their decision declared there was ample evidence to establish that Moore's confession of the brutal slaying was "freely and voluntarily made."

The defense had attempted to prove that the confession was obtained by force and intimidation.

Tarzan Denies Fighting and Threatens Suit

Johnny Weissmuller, swimming star who gained fame in the movies as "Tarzan," and who was linked in a fist fight with U. S. Navy Lieutenant Cameron Winslow early Tuesday morning, yesterday threatened to enter suit for libel against the naval officer's wife. Mrs. Winslow charged that the actor was the man who fought with her husband in the night club. Weissmuller denied the charges.

METHODISTS OPEN $268,460 RAISED SESSION TONIGHT FOR CHEST WORK

Report Forecasts Indicate Steady Advancement in North Georgia Group.

By DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.

Atlanta Methodism will be on the fore in the opening session of the North Georgia Methodist annual conference at 7 o'clock tonight at Wesley Memorial church, according to forecasts of reports to be submitted to that body by Dr. Lester Rumble, presiding elder; Jere A. Wols, Atlanta district lay leader, and Mrs. H. B. Trimble, district secretary of the women's missionary society. The belief is entertained that no other district in the conference territory can surpass or equal the North Georgia district's achievement for 1936, it was stated.

Bishop William N. Ainsworth, of Macon, presiding over the conference for the third time, will call the body to order at 7 o'clock, following a special called meeting at 6 o'clock of the Wesleyan Association.

Dr. Trimble, presiding elder of the Atlanta area, says there are 32,370 members of the 47 churches in the district, and that 920 new members have been added to the church rolls this year on profession of faith or conversion.

Financial Showings. Outstanding in the district work this year, said Dr. Rumble, is the fine showing in finances. Not only has the district made progress in the matter of paying off indebtedness, but the payments on the endowment, asking for 100 per cent paid, and pastors' salaries are paid more than 99 per cent.

The benevolent askings for this year are $25,323, paid in full together with an additional special missionary offering of $1,550.

Under the masters' equalization fund will be paid about 75 per cent. Since salaries for pastors in the district this year have been increased $2,000, and

Campaign Is Two-Thirds of Way to Goal; Final Report Set Next Week.

Community Chest workers enter the Thanksgiving holidays two-thirds of the way to their goal, after raising an additional $35,363 yesterday.

The total report in the campaign reached $268,460 Wednesday, the final status of their effort to insure the work of 34 community agencies. The workers will not meet again until Wednesday, December 2, for the final report.

Julian V. Boehm, president of the Chest, said that 10,000 individuals had given $100 each to the campaign, and 32,370 others, mostly young people, had been contacted up to yesterday noon. Every worker has pledged himself to remain on the job until the work is complete.

The reports already include so many increases that we know the remaining reports will bring us to our goal," he said.

"This campaign for Atlanta's needy has resulted in more interest and more widespread and generous giving than in many years.

"With such remarkable results from the first reports, we can easily obtain our goal with the help of the others who have not yet given."

Reflecting general increases all down the line, the average of the individual subscriptions already reported is $3 more than the average for last year.

Yesterday's total was the second largest of any day in the campaign, and many workers sent in work that they were remaining; on the job and would not report in until the final report.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE LAUNCHED VIA MAIIS

Association to Send 30,000 Letters Seeking Funds for Year.

The Atlanta Tuberculosis Association tomorrow will mail out 30,000 letters throughout Fulton and DeKalb counties containing Christmas seals—an annual sign of the approach of Christmas.

"Santa Claus has gone modern on the 1936 Christmas seal," according to Dr. C. C. Aven, president of the association. "He typifies the modern weapons now used in the fight against tuberculosis, such as X-rays and modern surgery."

The association has under its care more than 3,000 people who cannot afford private physicians. The income from the seals means almost one-third of the budget of the association.

Atlantans for the past two years have been requested to put seals on every check issued during December as far as possible, in addition to placing them on Christmas cards and letters during the Yule season.

DON'T take chances. Rub on soothing, warming Musterole. Relief generally follows.

Musterole gets such marvelous results because it's NOT just a salve. It's a "counter-irritant"—easing, warming, stimulating and penetrating—helpful in drawing out local congestion and pain.

Used by millions for 25 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists. In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong. Tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau, No. 4867.

Disagreeable surface pimples and bright red patches broke out on my face and forehead. They itched and my appearance made me miserable. I tried several ointments to no avail. Then I purchased some Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in three weeks my complexion was clear and smooth again. (Signed) Miss S. Fortier, 999 Worcester Ave., Pasadena, Cal.

Calhoun Girl Charges Abduction To Two Highway Truck Drivers

Brunette, 17, Tells Story of Being Forcibly Held in Vehicle.

A tale of being abducted by two truck drivers and forced to ride with them in the cab of the vehicle until she seized an opportune moment and leaped from the machine, was told here yesterday by a 17-year-old Calhoun girl.

The girl, who identified herself as Miss Birtie Hass, employee of a Calhoun photographic studio, told Detectives A. D. Poole and D. L. Taylor, who were assigned to the case, that she was walking along the highway between Rome and Calhoun when she was abducted at about 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

She said the truck halted near her, the men in the vehicle, one about 20 years old and the other about 30, asking her if she wanted a lift. She declined the offer, and continued to walk forward. Some time later, the truck started up and, as it passed her, the girl said, she was pulled into the vehicle. Despite her pleas to be freed the men kept her in the cab of the truck, she said, until the vehicle slowed down near a crossing, about six miles south of Atlanta, at which time she jumped from the truck and fled.

She walked into Atlanta, telephoning police from a store. Descriptions of the truck and the men were broadcast to south Georgia police. The girl, a blonde, is being held at police headquarters, pending further inquiry.

MOYERS' SON IS FREED UNDER BOND OF $2,000

Trial of Youth and Father Expected To Be Slated Late in December.

One of Unions Suspended by A. F. of L. to Seek Legislation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(P)—A new method of supporting national legislation was announced today by the United States Textile Workers of America, one of the unions recently suspended by the American Federation of Labor for failing to seek committee for industrial organization.

The textile union, representing thousands of workers in one of the nation's four basic industries, will set up legislative committees in every textile state "to push the national textile cause through the coming session of congress."

Francis J. Gorman, U. T. W. A. vice president, said the union was the first international labor organization in the United States to adopt such a State Committee.

"We plan to set up immediately state legislative committees in order that the workers will have an organizational device through which to contact directly the elected representatives in congress," Gorman said.

Gorman said "every agency for spreading the demands of the not only among textile workers, but also among all other representatives of organized labor" would be used.

He announced the union also would support the American Youth Act, the Frazier-Landrea bill under which employers would shoulder the costs of child labor and regulate the machine shop.

The elder Moyers is accused of threatening Woodruff with a pistol in the latter's office in the Trust Company of Georgia building last Thursday and demanding $30,000 cash.

Glenn was ordered to obtain the money by noon. Moyers was said to have escaped in his car, watching the Cable Piano Company fire. He was arrested by FBI agents Monday afternoon at the threshold of the bank he is alleged to have robbed.

Marshall Moyers, 18, arrested with his father, William T. Moyers, Monday in connection with the $30,000 holdup of Ernest Woodruff and T. K. Glenn, officials of the Trust Company of Georgia, was free under $2,000 bond last night.

Solicitor General John A. Boykin ordered the youth's bond reduced from $20,000 because of his age and because he is charged only with misdemeanor offenses of carrying a concealed weapon and pointing it at federal officers. The father remained in jail.

Federal warrants against the Moyers have been dismissed, Assistant District Attorney M. Neil Andrews announced yesterday. It is possible, however, that charges against them will be investigated by the federal grand jury later.

Boykin said trial of the father and son would be scheduled during the next two weeks in December. Rules of court procedure require the cases to be published on the calendar for two weeks before trial.

Glenn was ordered to obtain the money by noon. Moyers was said to have escaped in his car, watching the Cable Piano Company fire. He was arrested by FBI agents Monday afternoon at the threshold of the bank he is alleged to have robbed.

The union also will seek an amendment to the Walsh-Healey Act which sets up minimum wages and maximum hours for companies fulfilling government contracts of more than $10,000. Gorman said.

To Introduce Bill.

The National Textile Act, which will be reintroduced at the coming session by Representative Henry Ellingen, Pennsylvania Democrat, would establish occupational minimum wages, a 35-hour work week, abolition of child labor and regulate the machine shop.

It also would eliminate compulsory residence in company-owned houses and compulsory trading in company stores and would require a week's vacation with pay.

As re drafted by Ellingen, the act would be confined to the textile industry, "cease and desist" orders under instead of by licensing textile manufacturers as originally proposed.

Gorman declared the union "expected" vigorous and expensive opposition from the reactionary textile barons," and added:

"Our opinion undoubtedly is swerved temporarily in favor of the manufacturers because of the recent so-called 'voluntary' wage increases." He termed the increases "political maneuvering" and an "effort to defeat organization."

MOTORMAN ARRESTED IN CHICAGO 'L' CRASH

City, State and U. S. Probe Wreck; Trainman in Hospital.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(P)—Motorman Van R. Grooms was held in technical custody tonight while representatives of city, state and federal governments investigated the most disastrous wreck in the history of Chicago's elevated railroads.

Grooms was at the controls of a North Shore flyer last night when it plunged into the rear end of a crowded Evanston express train—killing ten persons and scattering 65 injured passengers along the right of way.

Two men were rushed to his hospital room. His physicians said shock and injury made it impossible for him to tell his story at an inquest.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney said if his inquiry showed criminal negligence on the part of any employee he would bring manslaughter charges against them.

At the inquest Ernest Gaske, operating the signal tower, testified there were no signals between the Lawrence and Granville stations but that the three warning lights on the rear car of the waiting Evanston train could be seen from the rear and a half straightaway under prevailing conditions. Visibility, he added, was good.

A. J. Mullin, guard, testified the warning lamps were lighted when he inspected them about a half-hour before the crash. The suburban flyer's whistle sounded once or twice, he reported.

Investigators reported the controls of the Midvale train were set in reverse, indicating Grooms had made a desperate effort to halt it.

The inquest was continued to December 15.

Governor Henry Horner instructed the Illinois Commerce Commission to conduct an inquiry. Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson ordered "El" line receivers to give him a full report. The Interstate Commerce Commission assigned two investigators to the case.

SETTLEMENT IS MADE WITH BENDIX STRIKERS

Seven-Point Agreement Is Entered into by Company and Union.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 25.—(P)—The nine-day "sit down" strike and lockout at the plant of the Bendix Products Corporation ended here tonight with the acceptance by the company and the union of a seven-point agreement, by which employees will be back at their jobs Monday morning.

Announcement of the settlement of the dispute over complete unionization of the factory came after several days of conferences and was hailed by Homer Martin, of Detroit, international president of the United Automobile Workers of America, as a "victory for both the workers in the automobile industry and the manufacturers."

The seven points in the agreement were:

1. All employees shall be back at their jobs not later than next Monday morning.

Recognizes Union.

2. The company recognizes local union No. 9, United Automobile Workers, as the bargaining agent for its membership and all other employees who choose to avail themselves of its services. The company shall negotiate with the local union on all matters of rates of pay, hours and conditions of employment and shall not agree with any other group with respect to such matters without also having reached an agreement on the same matters with the local union.

3. The company shall co-operate with local union No. 9 by agreeing to take back all of the employees on the rolls as of November 16 without discrimination or loss of seniority rights as far as practicable to the extent there are no difficulties.

4. There shall be established a board of review to which any member of the union or any employee who secures consent of the executive board of local union No. 9, who is dissatisfied with the decision of the personnel director, may take his complaint. This board will consist of three members of the union. No. 9 are not concerned with the presenting of complaints and three members of the executive staff of the company not connected with the shop management.

5. Men laid off by reason of reduction of hours shall be given at least one day's notice in advance of such lay-off.

6. Employees notified to report for work when no work is available shall be provided with a minimum of two hours employment instead of one hour as in the past.

7. In order to carry out the spirit and intent of the agreement the management agrees to co-operate with local union No. 9 in jointly considering all proposals which may be submitted by the union to the management after acceptance of work.

The dispute over unionization of the plant came to a head on November 17 when company officials ordered all work halted.

SENATOR LEWIS SEES ACCORD ON WAR DEBTS

Says Roosevelt Will Be Empowered To Negotiate Settlement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(P)—Senator Lewis, Democrat, Illinois, predicted today an early settlement of war debts and urged amendment of the neutrality act to prevent shipment of American goods in foreign ships to blockaded belligerents.

A member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the senator often has insisted on settlement of the war debts, contending their present status upsets world economics.

"I rejoice to see," the senator said, "that French official circles are discussing the war debts owed America. Their discussion, I believe, will be followed by England."

Lewis said there is "certain" that consideration of the question by these two debt nations would "be followed by early action from congress."

"Congress, convinced that these nations want to make a just settlement, will act," he contended. "This action, likely, will be to vest in the President full authority to negotiate a settlement, an authority which will be limited only by the necessity of repaying the debts."

Turning to neutrality legislation, the senator expressed concern "that our country is not properly measuring the effect of the blockade by insurgents against ships of foreign countries coming to Spanish ports."

"In the event the blockade shall take the form of an assault on a ship, even in the killing in the killing of American citizens and the destruction of American cargo," he said. "In such event, the United States is drawn into the controversy."

Dr. Jessica Raiche, of Santa Ana, Cal., was the first woman to fly an airplane in the United States. She first flew at Mineola field, Long Island, in 1910.

THE GERMAN-JAPANESE PACT

The pact between Germany and Japan, designed to combat the international activities of the Communist government of Russia, is in many respects the outstanding move for world peace taken since the end of the World War.

For a decade following the establishment of the Soviet government its leaders contented themselves with subversive efforts to bring about the downfall of the so-called capitalist governments of the world, but as their war strength has increased they have become bolder and more defiant in their efforts to spread the doctrine of Communism.

In the bloody civil war now waging in Spain they have come out into the open and, despite the clearly apparent fact that the policies of the Madrid government are being dictated from Moscow, have attempted to tell the other nations of Europe that they must not give aid or advice to the Insurgents. The new pact is undoubtedly a direct result of the situation in Spain.

The two nations which would suffer the most if Russia assumed a dominant position in world affairs would be Germany, now busily engaged in re-establishing herself in her former influential position in Europe, and Japan, approaching the peak of her power as the dictator of the destinies of the Far East.

The pact signed Wednesday between these two ultra-militaristic nations binds them for five years to co-operative action against the spread of Communism, to co-operate in an international campaign against Communism, and extends an invitation to other nations to join in a united front against Soviet Russia.

Blunt statement of the purpose of the pact is contained in the preamble, which warns the Communists in the following words to discontinue their world-wide activities:

The German government and the Japanese government recognizing that the aim of the Communist International, known as the Komintern, is directed at disrupting and violating existing states with all means at its command and convinced that to tolerate the Communist International's interference with the internal affairs of nations not only endangers their internal peace and social well-being but threatens world peace at large, animated by a desire to work in common against Communist disruptive influences, have arrived at this agreement.

In view of the close relations now existing between Germany and Italy the latter country would undoubtedly join with the signers of the new pact should they become involved in war with Russia. Thus the Soviets face a combine of the three most powerful nations, so far as armaments are concerned, in the world.

No knowledge exists of the war strength of Russia beyond the boast of the Communist leaders that they have the strongest armed forces in the world, but these forces, even if predominant in manpower, are at best untried and would in all probability stand little chance in conflict with the veteran legions of Germany, Japan and Italy. Furthermore, the industrial development of Russia has not yet reached the point where huge armies could be kept supplied with war materials.

Thus, should Russia attempt to come to grips with Germany and Japan, and possibly Italy, she would face almost certain defeat, which would undoubtedly mean the loss of the rich Ukraine agricultural area to Germany, the Asiatic coast of Siberia to Japan and the payment of another huge indemnity of some kind to Italy.

Since Russia has become increasingly the most serious menace to world peace, and since the new pact is an iron-bound agreement between nations the Moscow government would not dare to do, it remains that the agreement is a powerful guaranty of world peace.

UNEMPLOYMENT DROPS

The National Association of Manufacturers' bulletin recently issued predicts the federal government's proposed unemployment census will show less than 5,000,000 persons "without work and seeking work." Harper Sibley, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, is even more optimistic, reporting to President Roosevelt this week that the chamber now estimates there are less than 4,000,000 employable out of work who could be absorbed in industry.

Since the low point of the depression, Sibley estimates industry has absorbed 8,500,000 workers, 3,000,000 of them during this year. The same rate of increase next year will bring unemployment below the figures of normal years—a kaleidoscopic change from the dark days of 1932, and the early period of 1933, when unemployment was outstanding among the problems faced by the Roosevelt administration.

In view of this splendid record and the apparent prosperity of the nation as a whole, the entire country views with apprehension the maritime strike which is again crippling shipping on three coast borders of the United States, with resulting idleness of workers in many branches of industry, and the row in the ranks of union labor.

Up to the present the divergence of opinion between two large groups of union labor has been fought principally in exchange of letters, verbal communications, and newspaper articles explaining both sides of the controversy; but these methods of fighting may quickly change to others that might throw the workers of the nation into serious turmoil, with destructive effect on the economic welfare of all the people.

Union labor organizations have advanced to a position of national responsibility during the past half century. It is to be hoped that the warring factions will find a basis of compromise that will be satisfactory to labor generally and beneficial to the nation.

GEORGIA'S SHAME

Georgians are justly proud of our state for its excellence in many respects, but when it comes to motor vehicle deaths on the streets of our cities and highways of the state, we must bow our heads in shame.

Blazoned to the world at large are statistics prepared by the National Safety Council, in urging the passage of driver's license laws, which show that the two Virginias, the two Carolinas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana, with a handful of the western states, as the most dangerous for motorists in the Union, and Georgia is cited as the worst of all.

In Georgia 35.4 persons are killed for every 10,000,000 gallons of gasoline burned yearly, the greatest number of fatalities, judged by the same basis, in the entire United States.

Figures reveal the adoption of a state-wide driver's license law lowers the death rate in states where the standard license law is in effect.

In such states the death rate is 17.5. Compare this with Georgia's 35.4! It is enough to make every Georgia motorist cringe when he seats himself under the steering wheel of his car and eases into the flow of traffic. Little does he know if he will return to the safety of his home garage.

Admonitions of caution to drivers have had little or no effect in bringing about an increase in safe driving. Motorists carrying "drive safely" tags on the rear of their cars may be observed any day snaking through traffic with small regard to the safety of themselves or others.

The only remedy for reckless driving is a driver's license that may be revoked on conviction of offenses sufficiently serious to merit that penalty. Then, and then only, will the reckless driver be curbed.

World's Window
By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.Hymn-Singing
At Sea.

We learn from Dr. John Hill, a famous English medicos, who recently passed through a storm at sea, that "an ecstasy of hymn singing" is an effective safeguard against seasickness. This is amazing news, but curiously enough, it receives confirmation from John Wesley, the great John Wesley, John and his brother, Charles, sailed to Georgia, the voyage taking six weeks. The storms the ship encountered disturbed John, but above the noise of the waters some Moravian missionaries who were on board could usually be heard singing hymns. They calmly sang on when the sea "split the mainmast to pieces, covered the ship and poured in between the decks, as if the great deep had already swallowed us up."

Their singing in this instance not only prevented their personal discomfort, but so impressed the Wesleys that they became curious about the theology of men who could diffuse difficulties with such composed and cheerful behavior. This curiosity led them to friendship which became a powerful influence in the later conversion of John Wesley.

Question Of Stomach.

I have crossed many seas, including the Black, the White, the Red, the North, the Synder, but I have never seen men, nor women, who had the physical stamina to fight off seasickness by singing. Once it got them in a different mood. I remember the first time I crossed very bad little stretch of open sea. That was the Synder sea between the towns of Enhuizen and Stavoren. It was a bad passage and several Americans on board testified that they had not been sick on the ocean, but that they did decidedly all on this voyage, which was easily seen.

The chopiness, which changed into a real northwester before an hour was over did not disturb me in the least. I may have been five or six at the time. Some gentleman, a German, I remember came over to my grandfather and asked: "How is it this little man is not sick?"

My grandfather replied in his "choice" German: "Man muss den Magen festigen, lieber Herr!" You must weigh down your stomach, doctor, which in truth he was doing, and I too. We ate a hearty meal during the passage, which is only two hours and a half. I have always followed that advice and was never sick except once when crossing the ocean on the Melita, but that was because a German submarine let go a torpedo at us. It missed by six inches.

Lord Melchett's Book.

One of the striking achievements of the Jewish National Home in Palestine is that it has brought about a complete change in the mind of many Jews who seem to be entirely detached from their people. Among them were the present and the late Lord Melchett, who have taken in a leading part in the championing of the Jewish cause.

The young Lord Melchett has just written a book called "The Neighbor," which deals with the persecution of the Jews throughout the ages and today but also with the new hope of Israel. It is a document written from deep conviction and with a burning faith.

First and foremost, he is obviously attempting to get the American labor movement strengthened and expanded on a national scale. He is said by some to believe that, if John L. Lewis can organize the steel industry, a national program of minimum wages and maximum hours can be effected. That is, labor itself might do the job, without any controlling federal legislation of importance.

What has happened in Tampa the last few days is not encouraging to those who expect anything from this source. As long as Messrs. Green and Lewis scrap about the horizontal and vertical methods of unionization, they might just as well both be permanently horizontal.

However, the possibilities of this approach to the Roosevelt purpose are by no means dead.

UNOPENED LOOHOPLES

There is another way yet unopened in which the federal government may move. Pending in the supreme court is the Wagner labor board case, and coming up later is the holding companies act. The decisions in these cases may be tremendously important.

The court will probably throw out the Wagner act on constitutional grounds. But the way in which the court chooses to throw it out may make a lot of difference. The decision may open a new way for federal wage and hour legislation which is not now known. It all depends on what the court says.

This is true, likewise, of the holding companies act. A test case involving the Electric Bond and Share Company is now pending in New York. It will not reach the supreme court for decision before spring.

The Wagner decision will probably be handed down in February.

UNDERSTANDING

This line of presidential reasoning may explain many things which have been obscure during the campaign and since. For one thing, it indicates why he promised minimum wages and maximum hours, but never said how. It also suggests the cause for his protracted silence regarding constitutional amendments and the recent retreat of the various New Dealers who got into the headlines immediately after election with a fantastic assortment of fanciful cure-alls.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

BY PAUL MALLON.

PRACTICAL WISDOM

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—There are not going to be any constitutional amendments.

The idea has been discarded. You may depend on that.

The President's legal counselors are wholly agreed that such a method of establishing minimum wages and maximum hours, or a centralized federal control over agriculture is impractical. The President knows it too.

Although the governors of 39 states are now Democratic, and so are the legislatures of nearly as many states, it is apparent that President Roosevelt cannot expect to swing 36 states necessary to ratify any constitutional change. Any 13 states could beat him. He would probably lose that many in the east alone.

Consequently, the trend of inner New Deal thought on the subject has entirely changed, despite the election sweep. A practical way of accomplishing the same social and economic changes is being effected.

PLANS

Contrary to popular belief, the President is not planning to bring forth a new simple law to effect his wage and hour objectives, because there is no such law.

The NRA substitute plans being promoted by various Roosevelt (the Johnson plan, the Richberg plan, etc.) merely represent the personal view of their promoters. These will not be taken up by Mr. Roosevelt because they will not do the job. For a time, serious consideration was given to the federal incorporation charter scheme (O'Mahoney bill), which has been widely advertised in the last few weeks. That scheme too has been dropped into the waste basket. Like the others, it was not practical. Legal authorities found that, if the state charter question ever were opened up by a new federal law, the damage done to good state charter laws (like that of New York) would be irreparable.

The plain fact is no law can be written to provide an effective federal system of minimum wages and maximum hours. Or if there is one, Mr. Roosevelt's searchers have not been able to find it.

PROBLEM

and in each locality differ so widely that it is impossible to lay down an inflexible rule for all. The NRA discovered that.

Managers of corporations are now being beaten with political reds because they will not loosen up on wages and hours, whereas everyone knows they are responsible to their stockholders to deliver earnings and profits. If they do not deliver, they will be supplanted by managers who will. No one has yet thought of a law which would make it profitable for managers to increase their labor costs until profits justify it. The law of human nature would have to be repealed and the possibilities of that are even more remote than a constitutional amendment.

Finally, in view of the two conditions stated in the two preceding paragraphs, there is just no known way to keep chiselers from chiseling by law.

In the early days of the New Deal, it was customary for Mr. Roosevelt to say, "There ought to be a law," and there was a law. That time is past. What the President wants now is a law that will stick and be effective.

LABOR

All this does not mean the President has abandoned his announced objectives. He is merely working to attain the same purpose through means other than those which are now under public debate.

First and foremost, he is obviously attempting to get the American labor movement strengthened and expanded on a national scale. He is said by some to believe that, if John L. Lewis can organize the steel industry, a national program of minimum wages and maximum hours can be effected. That is, labor itself might do the job, without any controlling federal legislation of importance.

What has happened in Tampa the last few days is not encouraging to those who expect anything from this source. As long as Messrs. Green and Lewis scrap about the horizontal and vertical methods of unionization, they might just as well both be permanently horizontal.

However, the possibilities of this approach to the Roosevelt purpose are by no means dead.

Politicians

In the meanwhile, literally hundreds of local, state and federal judges, prosecutors, aldermen, senators, members of the national and state legislatures, prohibition administrators, governors, mayors and one cabinet officer have been either convicted or plainly proven guilty of treachery in office. Those who were formally convicted served short terms in prison but the majority, including the most notorious, were not even more than a year.

Finally, in view of the two conditions stated in the two preceding paragraphs, there is just no known way to keep chiselers from chiseling by law.

HULL SEES SUCCESS ON ARGENTINA LANDING

Secretary Confident Parley
Will Be A Shining Example to World.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Optimistic predictions of the Inter-American peace conference came today from delegates of several nations who arrived today, among them United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Hull, heading the United States group which reached here with others aboard the steamer American Legion, asserted he was "completely confident the conference will achieve a marked success in removing obstacles to the future peace and prosperity of this hemisphere."

"We come determined to make the conference an example of unselfish cooperation," Hull said. "This will be a shining example to the rest of the world of the result that can be obtained when nations, joined as equals, congregate in the sincere spirit of unselfishness, sympathetic understanding and mutual confidence, prepare a path of peace."

Haiti Supporting F. D. R.

Paupeus Sannon, chairman of the Haitian group, said:

"My government and my people are those in accord with the noble views expressed by President Roosevelt in suggesting this extremely important gathering."

Dr. Francisco Castillo Najarra, Mexican ambassador to Washington who is a delegate to the parley, announced his country hoped an agreement for arbitration and conciliation would be reached. Mr. Hull, he said, was determined to follow its traditional policy of non-interference in the internal affairs of other states.

Dr. Luis Manuel Dehayle, foreign minister of Nicaragua, said he would advance completion of the Inter-American highway which now runs from the United States through much of Mexico, as an artery to promote trade and good will.

Court Is Proposed.

A Salvadorean delegate Castro Ramirez, expressed hope the conference would create an Inter-American court of justice.

It was understood the United States representatives would not oppose creation of an Inter-American court but would not agree to join it. (The United States has not entered the World Court of International Justice at The Hague.)

Secretary Hull made formal calls on President Agustin P. Justo and Argentine Foreign Minister Carlos Saavedra Lamas and then announced he would begin informal visits on delegations of the various nations tomorrow.

He then plans to revive the friendly neighbor formula of informal chats with which he created an extremely favorable impression among delegates to the 1933 Pan-American conference at Montevideo, Uruguay.

A dispatch from Recife (Pernambuco), Brazil, said Mr. Roosevelt exchanged greetings from the cruiser Indianapolis with Carlos Lima Cavalcanti, governor of the state of Pernambuco.

Messages Exchanged.

(The Indianapolis passed close to Pernambuco today on its way to Rio de Janeiro, where President Roosevelt will stop before continuing on to Buenos Aires. He is to arrive at the Argentine capital November 30.)

Cavalcanti, in English, told President Roosevelt:

"I have the honor of transmitting to your excellency the respectful greetings of Pernambuco's people who much admire the spirit of American frankness of the great nation over which your excellency presides."

Mr. Roosevelt replied:

"My sincere greetings and thanks and my regret that I cannot visit Pernambuco."

The United States executive also messaged the United States consulate at Recife, acknowledging the greetings of 90 Americans who live there.

CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES TO WELCOME ROOSEVELT

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The Brazilian chamber of deputies voted unanimously today to hold a special joint session with the senate to welcome President Roosevelt on his scheduled arrival here Friday.

The supreme court was invited to attend, together with members of the United States executive who will spend the day here en route to the Inter-American peace conference at Buenos Aires.

The war ministry said 150,000 troops would present arms along a three and one-half mile route through which President Roosevelt is to pass. President Getulio Vargas of Brazil, will ride with him in an automobile to the house which Mr. Roosevelt is to occupy at Botafogo Beach, according to the government's plans.

Brazilian naval vessels and airplanes will escort the United States cruisers Indianapolis and Chester, carrying the North American fleet, into the harbor, the war ministry said. Fifteen warships anchored inside the bay will greet the visitors with a 21-gun salute, the ministry added.

MRS. ALDORA UPCHURCH TO BE BURIED TODAY

Final rites for Mrs. Aldora Upchurch, 74, a resident of Atlanta for nearly 30 years, will be held at 1 o'clock (central standard time) this afternoon at the Friendship Baptist church, near Lawrilleville.

The Rev. Oscar Moore will officiate, and burial will be in the churchyard, under direction of Avery & Lowndes. Mrs. Upchurch died late Tuesday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William M. Brack, 1284 Arkwright avenue.

School Bell To Ring For Policemen Today

Back to school, or at least the headaches thereof, go members of Atlanta's police department today.

The men of the department will take the famous O'Rourke adaptability test, to be held in connection with selecting 50 men for the special traffic squad which will be the nucleus of this city's adoption of the Evanston plan of traffic control.

The tests will be taken by the various watches at the following hours: 8:30 a. m. morning watch; 2 p. m. evening watch, and 4:30 p. m. day watch, according to an order issued yesterday by Acting Commissioner L. E. Poole.

Of the 50 men chosen for the special squad, 24 will be assigned to regular, active duty, and the others will be on reserve duty.

Infuriated Mob Barred From Ranch Where Two Hunters Disappeared

Handful of Rangers Hold Mob Back; 1,000 Armed Vigilantes Seek to Storm the Vast King Property.

SAN PERLITA, Texas, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Only a handful of Texas Rangers stood tonight between a furious mob of farmers and 1,000 armed vigilantes who guard the "walled" King domain of the 1,000,000-acre King ranch where two hunters vanished last week.

Throughout southeastern Texas, farmers and townpeople who long have hated the iron rule with which the vast ranch is in violation were gathered to tear up the fences and burn down the ranch.

Opposed to them was the disciplined host of fence riders, cowboys and game wardens who operate the King property upon which more than 500,000 cattle carry the "Running W" brand.

Under the mediation of the armed Texas Rangers, one part of 15 possemen was allowed to deposit its guns with officials and enter the ranch to search for Luther Blanton, 57, and his son, John, 24, who last year had been lost.

Friends of the men who entered the King ranch were not known to the ranch people. Everyone knows that portion was restricted to hunting as it is state property and a game preserve.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Four officials of the Railway Audit and Inspection Company lost one legal skirmish and immediately started another today seeking to avoid trial in Washington, D. C., on charges of conspiracy in connection with their refusal to appear before the LaFollette senatorial committee investigating labor espionage.

Commissioner Roger Knox held the men, W. W. Groves, president; W. Boone Groves, vice president; James E. Blair, secretary-treasurer, and J. C. Boyer, operator of Railway Audit, in custody at the U. S. marshal's office for the U. S. district court at Washington, by which they were indicted.

Attorneys for the four immediately sued Judge R. M. Gibson of U. S. district court for western Pennsylvania for a writ of habeas corpus.

Judge Gibson set December 7 for a hearing on the petition and released the men each on $1,000 bond.

FRENCH BAR REMOVAL OF HISTORIC CHAPEL

VESOUL, France, Nov. 25.—(AP)—French peasants set a guard today over historic St. Hubert's chapel at Chavirey le Chatel to prevent its demolition and removal to America as a gift to John D. Rockefeller Jr.

The government accepted the gift in gratitude for the United States capitalists' donations toward the restoration of French monuments.

Farmers, saying petitions asking that Mr. Rockefeller refuse the gift have brought no response, declared ready to summon their fellow countrymen if any attempt is made to remove the 15th century structure.

"THANKS A MILLION"

FOR MORE THAN A MILLION

America has bought 1,130,000 Chevrolets during the past twelve months, thereby giving Chevrolet the greatest year in its history and the greatest measure of buyer preference it has ever enjoyed.

The builders of Chevrolet are thankful for many things, but most of all for the warm friendship of the American people.

And so again at this Thanksgiving season we say, "Thank you, America," for you have given Chevrolet a measure of good-will without parallel in the annals of modern industry.

Consider, for a moment, all that you have done to inspire Chevrolet's appreciation during the past twelve months:

You have purchased 1,130,000 Chevrolets; you have made Chevrolet your favorite car for the seventh time in the past ten years; you have given Chevrolet strong preference in every section of the country; you have conferred this same high honor upon Chevrolet trucks by purchasing more than 205,000 commercial units; you have made 1936 the most successful year in all Chevrolet history.

And now, to climax these expressions of friendship, you are displaying even more marked preference for the new Chevrolet for 1937.

It is difficult to express adequate appreciation for gifts so great and so generous as these.

All we can say is, "Thanks a million" for more than a million cars in 1936; and all we can do is offer you the still finer Chevrolet of 1937 in return for the finest friendship ever bestowed upon any motor car manufacturer.

through the usual channels. Until then it will be useless to apply at the plant for work."

Present Wage Setup.

Minimum wage in all Ford plants is now $6 a day with a five-day week. Plants now in operation are being worked on a six-day week, but the workers are staying so that none works more than five days.

The assembly plant, when operating, serves a territory including Georgia, Alabama, parts of Tennessee and North Carolina. The plan to reopen is indicative of improved business conditions in this area, Bottom said.

Knowledge of the plans to reopen the plant came through E. C. Harrington, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, who yesterday announced receipt of advice from the Ford Motor Company, through Bottom, to the effect that representatives from the Detroit plant will be in Atlanta within the next few days to arrange the layout and installation of equipment for the resumption of assembly operations.

"This," said a statement given out by Harrington, "is in anticipation of requirements for increased production which will be met and the actual requirements necessitate the use of these added facilities. The actual date of resumption of assembly operations at the local plant is indefinite at present."

Other Southern Plants.

Since discontinuance of the local plant, the Atlanta area has been supplied from the Memphis plant, that city and Norfolk being the only two points in this section at which the Ford Motor Company is assembling cars at present.

Harrington pointed out that the industrial bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, of which Frank K. Shaw is secretary, has been in constant touch with the Ford Motor Company ever since discontinuance of operations there. Resolutions urging reopening of plant were passed by the board of directors in November, 1935, and Shaw said every possible co-operation has been extended by the company.

"The announcement," said Harrington, "will be received with great satisfaction by Atlanta. The Ford Motor Company's operation constitutes an important part of Atlanta's industrial life and we believe its resumption of operations will come as a forerunner of substantially increased industrial activity."

autonomous unions, I will have no other choice but to go out and urge all international unions I can reach to pull out of the Federation.

Assailing the convention-adopted rule giving the executive council the right to suspend unions, Howard added:

"This is the paramount issue now and it is a complete stumbling block to peace."

Ask Permanent Relief.

A permanent federal relief program, inclusion of agricultural workers in the social security program, a $200,000 appropriation for a continued senate investigation of labor spies and strike-breaking and punishment of those responsible for last winter's Tampa floggings were called in resolutions of the convention approved unanimously.

A plea by Alex Rose, vice president of the Millinery Workers, failed to win more than scattered support for the labor party proposals.

"How can we fight effectively for labor legislation without fighting for labor legislators?" Rose shouted. "If we lead a labor party, at least let us have united labor action in campaigns."

Several other delegates supported Rose in the debate. After John P. Frey, president of the metal trades department, recalled how labor parties had failed in the past, however, the delegates refused to permit more speeches and shouted their approval of the resolutions committee's recommendations.

Some observers linked this move closely with Monday's action sustaining the executive council's suspension of Lewis' 10 unions and 1,000,000 for "insurrection."

Most of these unions revolted not only against the federation's traditional craft union policy but against the "non-partisan" political policy as well.

During the last campaign, the United Mine Workers, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, the Ladies' Garment Workers and others, formed Labor's Non-Partisan League to "put labor on the record for Roosevelt." Under the league's auspices, the American Labor party was set up in New York.

ARMY BOARD AGREES TO SUICIDE'S REQUEST

FORT SILL, Okla., Nov. 25.—(AP) Ashes of Lieutenant William L. Carson, 25, will be scattered over the fresh grave of a young woman in Illinois in compliance with a suicide note request, a military board of inquiry decided tonight.

Major G. W. Wetherell of the board said the ashes will be sent to Fort Atkinson, Ill., where the young New York reserve officer asked that Mrs. Guy Langenfeld strew them over the grave of his daughter, Mrs. Josephine (Jo) Layman. Cremation probably will be in Kansas City.

The body of Carson, who was graduated from Cornell University in June, 1933, was found on an artillery range Sunday after his riderless horse galloped off in the post bearing the suicide note and a crude map giving the body's location.

Full military services were accorded the young officer at the post.

ATLANTA THEATER NEWS

Gable, Joan Crawford Open at Grand Today

Against a background of international intrigue, with Scotland Yard detectives close on their heels in a mad dash over the map of Europe, Joan Crawford and Clark Gable appear in their new starring Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Love on the Run," which opens today at Loew's Grand theater.

Prominent in supporting roles are Franchot Tone, Reginald Owen, Mona Barrie, Ivan Lebedeff, Charles Judels and William Demarest.

Gable portrays a newspaperman and Miss Crawford an American heiress. She runs away from the altar and a possum-eating, snake-handling medicine show. Gillingwater saves Slim and Jane from the sheriff and they, in turn, save him from Donald Cook, who holds a mortgage on the Gillingwater plantation which he threatens to foreclose unless Helen Wood, Gillingwater's granddaughter, marries him.

There appears on the scene Thomas Beck, a young northern lawyer, and he and Helen go to each other in a brief way. Gillingwater expects to recover his fallen fortune by winning the forthcoming $50,000 Derby with his race horse, Stonewall Jackson. But Cook orders the sheriff to attach the horse. Jane persuades Slim to draw a phoney check on the "Bank of England" for a supposed interest in the horse, which Cook accepts.

In order to raise money to cover the check Jane takes the plantation horses to New York, where they click into a amateur program. In the meantime, Helen agrees to marry Cook and the ceremony has started when Jane rushes in with the money to cover the check.

MILLION FIRE DAMAGE.
MONTEREY, Cal., Nov. 25.—(UPI)—Fire destroyed the Delmar Canning Company plant here today with a loss estimated by officials at between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000.

Parker also announced $1,585,745 was collected in October, representing taxes for September, 1936, which also was an increase over last year's figures.

FUEL TAXES REGISTER NOVEMBER INCREASE

A total of $1,596,308 was collected during November in fuel oil taxes due in October, Comptroller General Edward C. Parker announced yesterday.

This total is an increase of $146,023 over the corresponding period of last year, when $1,450,285 was collected in gasoline and oil taxes.

Parker also announced $1,585,745 was collected in October, representing taxes for September, 1936, which also was an increase over last year's figures.

YULE BONUS LOOMS FOR SHIRT MAKERS

Six Hundred Here Will Get From $10 to $62 on December 15.

Six hundred employees of the East Point plant of the Cluett, Peabody & Company, Inc., shirt manufacturers, will benefit from the Christmas bonus of more than $12,000 to be distributed December 15.

The distribution will be 6 per cent of employees' earnings for the first six months of the year. D. Guy, manager of the plant at 1829 Murphy avenue, S. W., said, "and in some cases will run as high as $62."

The sum in no case will be less than $15, he said, except for those workers who started since July. In that case a flat bonus of $10 will be given.

Of the bonus distribution, Guy explained that the total sum to be distributed throughout the manufacturing system would aggregate $547,000.

SALVATIONISTS TO WED TONIGHT AT TEMPLE

Captain Katie Newhouse and Captain William Hayes, two Salvation Army workers here, will be married at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Army temple, 54 Ellis street. The couple, after a short honeymoon, will reside in Washington, D. C., where Captain Hayes has been assigned.

Captain Newhouse has been secretary to Commissioner Ernest L. Pugmire, director of the Salvation Army in the south. Captain Hayes is a worker with the group here.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxines.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the trial package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

W. E. Ayers, director of the station, estimated the loss at between $75,000 and $100,000 and said the plant probably would be rebuilt.

Approximately 150 tons of cotton seed, corn and soybeans were destroyed. The blaze gained such headway that bucket brigades and city firemen from Greenville were unable to check it.

HIGH COURT AFFIRMS STATE OLEO TAX ACT

The Georgia supreme court upheld yesterday the constitutionality of the state's oleomargarine tax act.

The court affirmed the refusal of the Jeff Davis superior court to grant an injunction to L. H. Cox against the enforcement of the tax by Commissioner of Agriculture Tom Linder.

The act, passed in 1935, imposed a levy of 10 cents a pound on the sale or exchange of oleomargarine.

One such correspondent recently wrote the mayor that he was arrested for being drunk and fined $17 or $20 days, while he was then serving. "I am a man," he said, "but not that much." The writer averred.

A unique request was received yesterday by the mayor from a man asking "time" for being disorderly. "I am a calendar salesman and this second of the year is the most lucrative one in my business," he wrote. "Won't your excellency please let me out so I can make some money?"

And, too, in the true spirit of the current holiday, another begged for a pardon from Key "to go home to Florida to eat Thanksgiving dinner with my family."

One of the posters being displayed in postoffices throughout the country is that of the Social Security Board, is entitled "The Story of Security in Your Old Age." It states in substance: "1. You fill out form; 2. Uncle Sam sets up your security account; 3. The letter carrier delivers to you a one-dollar benefit check every month . . . beginning when you are 65 and stop when you are 75."

The Constitution, through its information service at Washington, is ready to clarify for you without cost, any difficulty which might arise, or any point on which you are not absolutely clear, concerning the workings of this federal act.

Simultaneously with bringing your questions to the S. A. A. Questions and Answers Department of The Constitution, it will be sent by air mail to Washington, and when your answer is obtained, it will be printed in The Constitution, using your initials as identification.

Some of the problems presented by Constitution readers, together with their answers, are published herewith.

Q. Are the same employees required under the Social Security Act paid to the Federal Social Security Board in Washington, D. C.?—B. A. M.

A. All taxes under the act are payable to the Collector of Internal Revenue of the district in which the business is operated. The employee part of the tax on other benefits is deducted from wages by the employer, and transmitted by the employer with his own contributions.

Q. If I make out an application for account number, and leave my present employment before January 1, 1937, and get another job, do I have to make out a new application for account number for that new employment?—G. T.

A. No; you have only one number assigned for your account, and you need only tell your new employer your account number.

Q. I belong to an organization, the members of which contribute to a com-

13 REPORTED ABOARD LOST ALASKAN PLANE

Lone Aviator Takes Off To Search Coast for Missing Transport.

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 25.—(AP)—A lone aviator defied northern storm and fog today to search coastal waters for an air liner missing with 13 persons aboard.

While bad weather held other searching planes to the ground, Pilot Sheldon Simmonds hopped through a thick fog from Juneau to Chicago island, 40 miles west of here, to determine whether an object sighted by fishermen was the trimotored plane of Pilot Chet Brown, unreported since Monday.

Object Sighted.

The fishermen reported sighting an object resembling a plane in Gold Cove, on Mud Bay.

With a co-pilot and 11 passengers, Brown left Cordova Monday for a 500-mile flight southeastward over the Gulf of Alaska to Juneau.

A corrected passenger list from Cordova late today listed the missing air travelers as follows:

Pilot Chet Brown, of Anchorage. Co-pilot Hank Miller, of Nome. W. W. Stoll, of Seattle, of the Alaska Pacific mine.

Dr. J. E. Slade, R. O. Kerr and Martin Skauge, all of Los Angeles, and Jack Allen, of Long Beach, Cal., all of the Iniskin Oil Drilling Company.

Bill Sellers and Bud Anderson, of Portland, Ore.

Miss Alice Leep, of Anchorage.

Wally Forest, of Juneau; J. D. McDonald, of Fairbanks, division superintendant, and his assistant, Walter Brown, all of the Alaska Road Commission.

Carried Others.

When the plane left Anchorage it carried Jack Davison, former Juneau police chief, and C. D. Wilson, described as an oil company employee, but apparently they remained in Cordova where Allen evidently got aboard.

Brown's colleagues said that with three motors he should have been able to make a safe forced landing.

Twenty-two persons lost their lives in Alaska's nine major air disasters. The most recent of these occurred last September when six persons died in a crash on the Kenai peninsula.

Last night's storm caused the recently crippled motorship North Star to leave her Seward mooring and ride out the storm beyond the roadstead.

The motorship Kaslaf was overdue at Anchorage after 10 days battling storms en route to Seattle from Iliumna.

Captain Heinie Berger brought his motorship Discoverer into Seward late yesterday after eight days of storms in which his second mate, Byron E. Smith, 55, was washed overboard.

Norman Heslin, 32, of 541 Marshall street, Decatur, suffered a fractured skull and a fractured arm late last night when, as she sat in the luncheon room on Wednesday, she turned into a sandy road leading to their luncheon the negro stepped on the running boards of the car and demanded the money.

Mrs. Surreny was shot first, in the arm and shoulder, as she sat in the car. Her husband jumped out of the car and was shot several times as he grappled with one of the high-waymen.

MARY M'CORMIC WEDS HOMER V. JOHANNSEN

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Two negro highwaymen killed John H. Surreny, 63-year-old luncheon operator, and seriously wounded Mrs. Surreny, about 50, during an attempted robbery here today.

One of the shots fired by the negroes passed through about $2,000 in banknotes which the husband had in an inside vest pocket but apparently the negroes obtained no money before they escaped in an automobile they had stolen two hours earlier.

The Surrneys had been to a bank where they obtained the money to use in cashing checks for customers who were present there at the luncheon room on Wednesday.

Funeral services will be held at 11:30 o'clock this morning at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson's Sons. Dr. Ellis A. Fuller will officiate and burial will be in Westview cemetery.

IDEAL WEATHER SEEN FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

Fair and slightly colder, but with neither freezing temperatures nor rain in sight, was the holiday weather predicted issued yesterday by forecasters at the United States weather office here.

"Atlantans can anticipate one of the finest Thanksgiving days in years, as far as weather is concerned," was the way the forecasters expressed it. "The sun will shine most of the day."

The mercury is due to range between a minimum of 36 degrees and a maximum of 56 degrees, according to the prediction. The temperature range yesterday was between 40 and 52 degrees.

MARY M'CORMIC WEDS HOMER V. JOHANNSEN

MARY McCormick, the opera star, and Homer V. Johannsen, a Chicago lawyer, were married here today by Justice of the Peace.

"Atlantans can anticipate one of the finest Thanksgiving days in years, as far as weather is concerned," was the way the forecasters expressed it. "The sun will shine most of the day."

The singer gave her age as 37, the bridegroom his as 35.

Miss McCormick divorced Prince Serge Midvani three years ago.

Shortly after the wedding, the couple registered at an Excelsior Springs hotel for a brief honeymoon.

EX-POLICE SERGEANT SENTENCED IN SLAYING

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP)—A judge sentenced a former police sergeant today to 5 to 10 years in prison for killing his wife, with this side comment on "nagging" wives:

"A flippant, tantalizing female may drive a man to desperate limits."

The former police officer, Frank X. Donnelly, was convicted of first degree murder for slaying his 37-year-old wife, Marion, with one shot from his service revolver.

"I am innocent!" he protested to Judge Thomas Downs, who pronounced sentence in Queens county court.

As he was led away by a deputy sheriff, he turned and shouted again, "I am still innocent, your honor!"

ROMANCE STARTED TWO YEARS AGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Homer V. Johannsen, who was married to Mary McCormick, the opera star, at Kansas City today, has been practicing law in Chicago for 14 years.

Johannsen was associated for 10 years in legal practice with Oscar Nelson, now a municipal judge.

Alfred Johannsen, brother of the bridegroom, said the romance started two years ago from mutual interest in radio broadcasting.

Mees said he was surprised that the "ordinary courtesies" usually accompanying dismissals had not been extended him and that procedure was "so summary."

HIGH COURT AFFIRMS STATE OLEO TAX ACT

Baby Jackets and Bullpups in Annual Charity Game Today

Ah, another Thanksgiving Day. In Birmingham. There will be just time to step off the train, pick up a press box ticket, climb into a taxi and rattle out to Legion field. Where the Vanderbilts and the Alabama people are to play.

I hope the hot dogs at that little stand there are as good as ever. They make up a very fine Thanksgiving dinner for one who has to eat on the run on that day. The pressmen usually come into the box on Thanksgiving Day with mustard smears on their ears. They are at work while the paying guests are at home or hotels taking aboard the traditional dinner.

This game today is one of the few of the big games surviving the trend which is away from Thanksgiving Day games. The south will see most of the important games played next Saturday.

Scarcely upon a time Vanderbilt and Sewanee met on Cranberry-and-Turkey Day. But when Sewanee had as an attraction, the Alabama game was subbed. And it is one of the south's chief pulse-thumpers.

Today, with a possible Rose Bowl trip for Alabama riding with the game, it should leave the anticipated 25,000 patrons limp and thirsty.

It means nothing to the Commodores except a victory. They haven't won a major one yet. But they would very much like to ruin some one's Thanksgiving dinner.

It's going to be turkey for one team—

And crow for the other.

CHARACTER BUILDING.

I note that a prominent educator is out with the statement that defeat in football builds character.

Both Mr. Morrison and Mr. Thomas emphatically do not care to develop any character today. They would as soon wait until next year.

The educators puzzle me no little with such statements. A defeat rarely, if ever, helps any one. And by that measurement Santa Claus has not a shred of character; Minnesota is practically none; Alabama and L. S. U. notably are lacking in character and Sewanee practically is all character.

"I think we have character enough," said Mr. Frank Thomas, of Alabama. "And we would as soon not build any more today with a defeat by Vanderbilt. We'll try to win and go along with that much less character."

The Vanderbilts, who have been building character this fall by losing to Southwestern, S. M. U., L. S. U. and Tennessee, show a surprising desire to build any more.

They would prefer to tear down a little character with a vulgar victory.

Vanderbilt has a chance at this game. Alabama is the better football team. But the Crimson Tide can't afford to be slow mentally or on their feet today. If they should be, they might find themselves in possession of some extra character and minus a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Alabama is my choice to win. But in this good day there is no explaining what will happen. This has been a dizzy, crack-pot season. And Vanderbilt has a chance.

STRONG LEGS WILL RUN.

It was some years ago—before the first of the all-star games—that the idea of the game for the crippled children came.

Strong legs run that weak ones might walk. Since then that has become the slogan for this game and for others over the nation which are played for the Shrine and the Scottish Rite's hospitals for crippled children.

"Strong legs will run that weak legs may walk."

That's today's big idea at Grant field—and every cent of your dollar for your ticket goes to the hospital—goes to help children get straight legs and normal feet and straight spines and new bones—the dollars are magic dollars.

And because there are men and women who love that little hospital, every cent of the dollars received today at Grant field goes to the children there.

And the Freshmen of Georgia and Georgia Tech put all they have into the game—making it a great football contest—producing the stars you will be cheering next fall on the varsity teams when Coaches Harry Mehre and Bill Alexander send them out.

A POLISH ALL-STAR TEAM.

When in New York for the Fordham-Georgia game, I found in Mr. Dan Parker's always excellent column a contribution by a reader of two all-star teams on major elevens—all Poles, two of them, Wojciechowicz and Jacunski played against Georgia that day. The teams:

FIRST TEAM

JACUNSKI, Fordham	Pos. L.E.
MERCOVSKY, Pitt	L.T.
STARCEVICH, Washington	L.G.
WOJCIECHOWICZ, Fordham	C.
CZARNECKI, Marquette	R.G.
BRUMANSKI, Duke	R.T.
BOGLARSKI, Detroit	R.E.
DUBOSKI, U. S. C.	Q.B.
WOITKOSKI, Fordham	L.H.
WOJCIECHOWSKI, Notre Dame	R.H.
OSMANSKI, Holy Cross	F.B.

SECOND TEAM

Iowa, JAKOUBEK	Pos. L.W.
Wis., GOLDOMGESKI	L.T.
Indiana, SIRTOSKY	L.G.
Iowa, OSMALOSKI	C.
Wash., SLIVINSKI	R.G.
Holy Cross, MONCIEVICZ	R.T.
Rutgers, PLEVINSKY	E.R.E.
Columbia, HUDASKY	Q.B.
Car. Tech., ZAWACKI	L.H.
Detroit, WIECZOREK	R.H.
Wis., JANKOWSKI	F.B.

Those names may look like a few typographical errors but they all are very good football players. And this young man Wojciechowicz is very likely to be THE All-American center. He looked like one in the Georgia game. An odd feature—he really likes knitting as a hobby and helps out his mother when she is a bit delayed in completing a sweater or suit.

Rollins, Florida 'B'
Will Clash Tonight

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 25.—(P)—Rollins will risk a blot on the Tars' excellent football record here tomorrow night in a battle with the University of Florida "B" squad.

Several players who have performed with the Florida varsity during the season will be in the reserve lineup, notably Bob Ivey, quarterback, and Benny Golden, fullback.

Fox's didn't say whose position the newcomers should fill, but added he wouldn't be surprised to see "plenty of fireworks" between now and the Thanksgiving game.

He denied there was any jealousy among the gold-plated crew, and said their collapse last summer "was just one of those things."

Fox's was en route to Arkansas county with C. A. Clements, B. A. Arch Company, and J. D. Brandon to do some duck hunting. They planned to stay in the vicinity of Stuttgart.

Foxx Says Red Sox Need Three Players

HELENA, Ark., Nov. 25.—(P)—Jimmy Foxx, slugging first baseman of Tom Yawkey's Boston Red Sox, said today all that was needed to put the team in the thick of the 1937 pennant fight was a pitcher, infielder and outfielder.

Fox's didn't say whose position the newcomers should fill, but added he wouldn't be surprised to see "plenty of fireworks" between now and the Thanksgiving game.

GREAT CENTER

PITTSBURGH.—You can't blame Duquesne for wanting some celebrating over this season. Not only have the Night Riders bumped Pitt and Marquette into major upsets, but most of the Pittsburgh sports writers are raving over Center Mike Basrak as one of the outstanding pivot men of the season.

DUKE, N. C. STATE TO CLASH TODAY FOR LOOP CROWN

Wade's Team Must Win to Clinch Southern Conference Title.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 25.—(P)—The Southern conference championship and three state titles will be at stake tomorrow when circuit teams engage in their traditional Thanksgiving battles.

Duke University's favored Blue Devils need a triumph over N. C. State at Durham to clinch the loop crown for a second year and to retain their supremacy in the North State. An all-star Coach Hank Anderson's veteran outfit would give North Carolina and V. M. I. an equal claim on the conference honors.

The sophomore dominated V. M. I. squadron will attempt to bomb Virginia Tech in the "military classic" at Roanoke. The Keydets will close the season with a clean slate if they topple the Gobblers.

FURMAN'S CHAMPS.

One of the keenest struggles of the football season, the Furman-Clemson meet for the Palmetto state championship. The Hurricane took the title with a two-point win over the Tigers last year.

North Carolina's Tarheels, stopped only by Duke in the circuit, will renew their ancient series with the University of South Carolina. The Cavaliers, completing one of their worst seasons in history, will be eager to salvage something from the wreckage by holding the Carolinians to a respectable score.

Davidson and Wake Forest will meet in the continuation of a gridiron tradition which has been based on the dark ages of the game. Aside from their trouble with Duke and North Carolina, both teams have turned in generally successful performances. Most of the experts were picking the Wildcats but the margin of strength, if any, is slim.

MIAMI, Nov. 25.—(P)—The new Old Line of Maryland will continue their lengthen schedule against Washington and Lee at Baltimore. Coach Frank Dobson's men dropped a one-point decision to George Washington last Saturday and will extend their play into December, engaging Western Maryland a week from Saturday.

Richmond and William and Mary will be seeking their first circuit victory of the season at Richmond. Both squads will be augmented by the return of injured stars who have been on the bench for several weeks.

The Chickasawhills will bring their season to a close against Wofford at Augusta. South Carolina also travels out of the conference arena to engage Xavier at Cincinnati. The Gamecocks will journey to Miami University December 11 for the curtain contest.

Coach Doyal will take no chance in the game and will start his best lineup, with Wiley and Stora ends; Williams and Miller at guards; and Bales, McFerren and Hock, tackles; DeFreese and Hock, guards; and Webb at center. McDuffie, quarterback; Orenstein and Sabo, halfbacks; and Goree, fullback, will make up the starting backfield. That is the same lineup which opened with Tech High two weeks ago, with the exception of Clark at left end.

SHOW, NOV. 26.

And it's a new team this season, but coming along fast in recent games, out for revenge, to break the Purple jinx and to stave off another touchdown blow tomorrow afternoon.

The Purples, on the other hand, are at the end of three perfect seasons in 1934, the last game of 10 on the 1936 card. And nothing will be saved, for every trick in their bag will be cut loose at the Stingers.

Trainer Claude Bond gave the boys the once over following practice this afternoon and pronounced the squad in the best shape of the year. Only Sheldon at center was not at his best, but he will be given plenty of action, if needed. Every other member of the team is fully recovered, and the players welcomed an opportunity to stretch their legs after a two days of train contest.

Star Harriers Vie Here Today

Georgia Tech's undefeated cross-country team will race against teams from Georgia, Auburn, Mississippi State and possibly L. S. U. in the Southeastern conference invitation run this Saturday.

Tech's great cross-country ace, Chick Aldridge, who hasn't lost a race since he was a freshman, is expected to lead the favored Jackets to victory over the old family course.

The race will start at 11 o'clock this morning, the contests on Third and Fowler.

Leading runners from other schools are Gillespie, Georgia; Charlton, Auburn, and Tipton, Mississippi State.

L. S. U.'s harriers have been invited and may show up in time to run.

Coach George Griffin, of Tech, also has an ace in the hole, R. W. Kestler ranks just behind Aldridge as a cross-country runner.

Tide Favored Over Vandy; Huskies Meet Cougars on Coast

24,000 Slated to See Tilt in Birmingham

Frank Thomas Says His Team Is in Fine Shape.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Alabama's Rose Bowl hopes and undefeated record will be at stake here tomorrow in the Crimson Tide's annual Thanksgiving battle with Vanderbilt Commodores.

Clear cold weather is forecast, and college authorities expect a crowd of near-capacity proportions, with 24,000 a distinct possibility. The kickoff at 2 p.m. should find all eyes in time, physical condition with Bill Peters, Georgia's left guard, the only regular player likely to be missing from the starting lineups.

Peters, recovering from an operation for appendicitis, will see the game from the weather bureau promised more tomorrow.

With the return of Byron Haines, triple threat halfback, the Huskies were at full strength the first time since the opening of the season.

Injured Cougars are Bob Fletcher and Hal Jones, halfbacks, and Al Hopowitz, guard.

The game starts at 1:30 p.m. (4:30 p.m. E. S. T.)

MAULDIN FACES CHINESE FLASH

Gentleman John Mauldin, the light-heavyweight champion of the south, will defend his title Friday night against Chin Lee at the North Side arena.

The Chinese wrestler has won over all opposition since coming to Atlanta, and after the promoter had several requests by fans to make him meet two matmen, it was decided to let them fight for the title this week.

The Chinaman uses the jiu-jitsu oriental style of wrestling, mixed with the American style, to subdue his opponents. Mauldin objected for Chin Lee to use his judo headlock, stating he was not legal but the boxing commission passed on it stating it was legal.

The boys will be trying all the way.

MENTAL ATTITUDE.

Much depends on the mental attitude of the two combatants, and it isn't likely this team will be worried about last year. It is a this-year team. If it goes in there to win it will because it is the better football team.

Last year's team didn't expect the defense employed by the Commodores. This year they will be coached to meet it. Which will make a difference.

For Mauldin the game means a lot. For Alabama it means a possible bid to the Rose Bowl. The boys will be trying all the way.

Count Pedro Rossi and his little negro valet will make their first appearance at this arena when he meets Joe Willard, Nashville flash, in the semi-final go. Rossi proved to the fans in the Spring street arena this week when he defeated the Indian that he is the roughest customer ever to show here in his weight. This match could easily be tops on the program.

Mexican Don Jose will meet Tony Papalino, Italian star, in a winner-take-all, one hour match, opening the program.

The North Side arena is located at 773, 775 and 779 Marietta street, junction of Bankhead. The hundred new seats have been added to the new arena, due to the many fans who had to stand last week.

The gridiron of the nation this weekend will be crowded with the powerful young men race for touchdowns, make seemingly impossible catches of passes, display cunning and strength in blocking opponents.

The accolade of cheering crowds and the plaudits of the campus have hailed each brilliant play. But the greatest reward for football prowess is selection for the mythical All-American team made up of the country's outstanding player for each position on the south—or even for the Rose Bowl if L. S. U. trips against Tulane.

These coaches, Andy Kerr, of Cincinnati; Ray Morrison, Vanderbilt; James Phelan, University of Washington, and Gus Dorais, University of Detroit, have made the selection of an All-American eleven and an alternate team for 1936 after consultation with many coaches throughout the country.

As awarders of this garrison of football excellence, few are as well qualified as the four coaches whose forecasts and analyses of the season's games have appeared in The Constitution.

Both teams went through light workouts. Corcoran and Phelan reminded that the Xavierites have won every Thanksgiving Day contest since 1931. Don McAllister, mentor of the southerners, replied tersely that he hadn't "come 600 miles to lose a game."

There was prospect of fair, cold weather and a crowd of 10,000.

The score, his fingers forecast, would be 6 to 0.

Tade can't talk. He can't walk. The clot he got on the head late in the Turkey Day classic may keep him bedfast the rest of his life.

But he's still pulling for the Vols. "Suppose you were playing. Herbie, his father, T. R. Tade, asked jokingly.

Herbie smiled.

"Thirty to nothing for Tennessee," he motioned with a twinkle in his eyes.

frozen Inky, the midget negro mascot, failed to spur the Jackets on.

They found the Bees more than willing to break up everything they tried in the way of running and passing plays.

It was a rather sordid showing.

Yet, as Mack Tharp said, "I've seen teams look like that in scrimmages and go out on Saturday and look even worse." Mr. Tharp was not encouraged.

Captain M. F. FitzSimons hurt his ankle all over again, but it was not so bad that he had to leave the scrimage. Red Collins injured a hand, but it was nothing to worry about.

MANY SCRIMMAGE

There's almost sure to be another scrimmage this morning. Tech needs one now, after yesterday's listless exhibition. The coaches want no such hangover as that for the Georgia game Saturday.

Not since the teams renewed relations in 1925 has Tech won a game at Athens. It has been a very painful mix. Maybe Tech, with the inspirational presence of Inky, Red Collins' luck pieces can do it Saturday. And, on the other hand, maybe not.

Seed Hendrix First In Lakeland Meet

LAKELAND, Fla., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Arthur Hendrix, of Lakeland, drew the first seeded position today among 38 men who will participate in the third annual Lakeland Open tennis tournament starting tomorrow.

The No. 1 spot among the women went to Eunice Evans of Miami.

Saved best of Hendrix are Martin Busby, Miami; Vernon Marcus, Lakeland; Louis Dade, Canadian Junior champion; Rob Decker, Miami;

Glen Wilson, Orlando; W. E. Marcum, Lakeland, and Bill Hardie, Mi-training table with a slightly injured hip when Coach Mehre made the regular afternoon round of the gym. The Atlanta star, whose defensive work this season has been some of much pleasure to his tutors, came up early for inspection of the injury.

Trainer Jones did not regard it as serious and stated that Maffett would be able to play just the same.

STARTING LINEUP.

Although he won't decide definitely until the day before the game, Coach Mehre is probably already giving much thought to the starting lineup for Saturday. The current best he seems to be: Candler and Maffett, ends; Badgett and Davis, tackles; Finsley and Harman, guards; Law, center; Young, quarterback; Anderson, left halfback; Jones, right halfback; Hartman, fullback.

Reservations are flooding the local hotels for rooms. Tickets are selling fast. Out-of-town visitors are expected in many homes. The kickoff is slated for 2:30 o'clock E. S. T.

CO-ORDINATED PLAN OUTLINED FOR GEORGIA

Russell, Rivers, Owen Predict State-National Program at Villa Rica.

VILLA RICA, Ga., Nov. 25.—A forward-looking program for Georgia, traveling in step with the federal government, was promised here today by Governor-elect E. D. Rivers, Senator Richard B. Russell Jr. and Congressman Emmett Owen.

Speaking on Villa Rica's turkey trot program the three leaders declared that the new Georgia would be nation to enter upon a new era of prosperity with the beginning of the new year and called upon the people of the state to give thanks today for all of the benefits obtained during the year.

The governor-elect, who shared the turkey trot program with Governor Talmadge last year when they clashed from the speakers' stand, reminded the upwards of 10,000 people gathered for the celebration that the campaign which resulted in the downfall of Talmadge and his followers really was laudable. "Rica the day before last Thanksgiving," said Rivers.

"Then and there the present governor chose his course and we chose ours," Mr. Rivers said. "He tried to lead us off into the Republican party but we Democrats of Georgia realized that if we were to go forward we had to do it under the banner of President Roosevelt and I know that we are all mighty happy to have done what we did."

The governor-elect spoke briefly. He declared that in his conferences with the members of the general assembly, now in progress, the members of the legislature had agreed that they plan to support the wide humanitarian program on which he was elected to office.

Senator Russell declared that the area is one of the strongest Democratic sections in the nation and promised to continue his arid support of President Roosevelt and his program.

"You people of Carroll and surrounding counties have reason to be proud of your record and you have much to be thankful for," the state's junior senator said. "You stood by the President and stood by your country and that you all did help."

Congressman Owen said that he had supported the major planks in the program of President Roosevelt and that he would continue to give the President every aid possible.

The turkey trot program was sponsored by Villa Rica's Citizen Club.

It is an annual event. Following the addresses a score or more turkeys were unleashed from the top of a building and caught by the citizens. Mrs. Rivers caught the first bird.

Prominent Gainesville News-paperman Critically Ill in Hospital.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 25.—W. M. Brice, well-known newspaperman and author of "A City Laid Waste," the story of the tornado here, lies critically ill at the local hospital from a dose of poison said to have been self-administered. His wife, Mrs. Brice, said he had a slim chance of recovery.

Mr. Brice hailed Deputy Sheriffs Lee Land and J. C. Smith on the Atlanta highway about five miles from here this afternoon, asking aid in starting his stalled auto, it was reported. The officers started the motor, but said he had been connected with the Gainesville News for 18 years. He is local correspondent of a news service and several newspapers.

Health and dependency are said to be friends to have caused the act.

DRIVERS' LICENSE BILL URGED AT BLUE RIDGE

BLUE RIDGE, Ga., Nov. 25.—The Blue Ridge Kiwanis Club today officially urged the Georgia legislature to pass a drivers' license and state highway patrol bill when it meets in January.

Facts of a state-wide campaign for the enactment of such laws being conducted in the state was brought to the attention of the club by T. H. Crawford, president, who expressed the opinion that it was time for one state highway patrol bill when it meets in January.

P. D. Geer, judge of the city court at Bainbridge, testified for the defense that he had expressed the belief "something was badly wrong" with the defendant a few days prior to the trial.

At the time of the slaying, investigating officers said unrequited love was responsible.

Judge Geer fell in love with her and she quit working for him and would not return his attentions," Sheriff B. E. Houston said at the time.

Judge W. C. Worrill, of the Putnam superior court circuit, is presiding.

A physician, the sheriff and an undertaker were among the witnesses before whom testified this afternoon before court adjourned until tomorrow morning.

DAUGHTER CHARGES AIMEE FIGHTING HER

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—(P)—Ruthie Semple charged today that her mother, Aimee Semple McPherson, is seeking to "deprive me, her own daughter, of my rights and to oust me from the office I hold" in Angelus Temple.

Miss Semple, estranged from her mother because of a temple rift recently, filed a complaint against the temple's directorate, called by Mrs. McPherson to make a "change in the officers of these boards." The directors meet tomorrow night.

THREAT TO PARIS SEEN IN ANTI-RED ACCORD

considered as creating a favorable atmosphere.

The accord is sharply ideological and inspired by a crusading spirit which France, like England and all countries desirous of peace, refuses to accept. France does not want to add any new elements more or less artificial to the all-too-real causes of conflict."

Berlin and Tokyo were quick to explain that the agreement was not directed against the Soviet Union. It was a working arrangement to combat the Communist International's activities outside of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

Diplomats accredited to the German government believed that the Comintern injected itself into China, Spain or elsewhere, the signatories would feel free to carry on a joint reprisal. In this connection it was noted that the accord declared the parties to it would no longer tolerate Communistic interference.

ITALIANS HAIL PACT.

Authoritative Italian Fascists supported the official Tokyo-Berlin view that the agreement was not a military alliance against Moscow. It was hailed as a defensive arrangement which provided for "defense of national territories" and for a "vigil over international situations in so far as they may be affected by aggressive Comintern action."

In Paris, on the other hand, one deputy was quoted as saying the war was waged by Hitler against the United States and Britain.

Officials believe the agreement would serve to strengthen Franco-British-American relations, because the "threat" to France would necessitate her bending every effort to secure their support. American reaction, which was imminent, to the world peace at large, animated by a desire to work in common against Communism, is the only way to prevent aggression.

"It should be pointed out that in that connection with or behind this agreement exists no other agreement whatsoever, and the Japanese government has no intention of forming or joining in any special international bloc for any purpose," von Ribbentrop, Germany's ambassador to Great Britain.

The document contains a preamble, three articles and a supplementary protocol binding the signatory nations to exchange recommendations to combat Communism.

PRAIRIE POINTS.

"Recognizing that the aim of the Comintern Internationale is to disrupt and violate existing states with all the means at its command and convinced that to tolerate the Comintern Internationale's interference with the internal affairs not only endangers their internal peace and social well-being, but also endangers the world peace at large, animated by a desire to work in common against Communism, the signatory nations to this agreement shall take the following steps:

"1. Consult on co-operative anti-Communist moves.

"2. Invite third parties to join them.

"3. Exchange police data on the subject.

"4. Involve stiff penalties for internal subversives.

"5. Set up a permanent Japanese-German commission.

Representatives of all diplomatic missions in Berlin were invited to witness the signing of the agreement by Japanese Ambassador Kintomo Nakajima and by Joachim von Ribbentrop, German ambassador to Great Britain.

The document contains a preamble, three articles and a supplementary protocol binding the signatory nations to exchange recommendations to combat Communism.

ITALIANS HAIL PACT.

Authoritative Italian Fascists supported the official Tokyo-Berlin view that the agreement was not a military alliance against Moscow. It was hailed as a defensive arrangement which provided for "defense of national territories" and for a "vigil over international situations in so far as they may be affected by aggressive Comintern action."

In Paris, on the other hand, one deputy was quoted as saying the war was waged by Hitler against the United States and Britain.

Officials believe the agreement would serve to strengthen Franco-British-American relations, because the "threat" to France would necessitate her bending every effort to secure their support. American reaction, which was imminent, to the world peace at large, animated by a desire to work in common against Communism, is the only way to prevent aggression.

"It should be pointed out that in that connection with or behind this agreement exists no other agreement whatsoever, and the Japanese government has no intention of forming or joining in any special international bloc for any purpose," von Ribbentrop, Germany's ambassador to Great Britain.

Presence of Thanksgiving Visitors Will Grace Festive Boards Today

By Sally Forth.

THE heavily laden Thanksgiving board is always made more festive by the presence of visitors from far and near. And today finds Atlanta family circles augmented by relatives and friends who have assembled for the happy occasion from many points of the compass. With his majesty, the turkey, the center of gastronomic attention, luncheons and dinners galore have been planned by members of society, with aperitif parties, teas, and dances filling in the intervening hours of the day.

Among the prominent visitors who have come from across the seas are Mrs. Valdama Schmittmann and her daughter, Miss Hildegarde Schmittmann, of Austria, who are the guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tompkins at their home on Westley road. These attractive visitors will be entertained at a round of informal gaieties. Mrs. Schmittmann is the former Mary Fortson, of Washington, Ga.

Prominent visitors who always receive a cordial welcome from a host of friends here are Mr. and Mrs. William J. Weller, of New York and Miami, who have formed an annual custom of arriving to spend Thanksgiving with their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Elder, on Muscogee avenue. The Wellers are en route to Miami to open their handsome winter home on Brickell avenue for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Elder will be hosts at a family dinner today in compliment to their guests.

Angelique Provosty, who hails from Alexandria, La., and attends Sophie Newcomb College in New Orleans, arrives today to visit Nancy Stair, attractive member of the debutante coterie. Angelique and Nancy are often taken for twin sisters because they are said to look exactly alike. They are charming representatives of the brunet type of beauty and were college mates at Sophie Newcomb.

Another charming visitor in debutante circles is lovely Nancy Hill, of New York, who is the feted guest of Sara Jenkins. Nancy will receive with Sara this morning at her formal presentation to society at a breakfast to be given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Jenkins, at the Driving Club.

Completing the family circle at the B. W. Torrance home on Belmont drive are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rylander and their young daughter, Cornelia, of Americus, who arrived yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Rylander were among the visitors attending the Nine O'Clock's annual Thanksgiving ball last evening.

Eugenia Cogswell, of Greenville, S. C., is the attractive guest of Dr. and Mrs. Edward S. Wright at their home on Collier road, and she will be central figure when her hosts entertain today at the cocktail hour.

Other Thanksgiving visitors adding interest and gaiety to the Nine O'Clock ball last evening were Mr. and Mrs. William Corran, of Louisville, Ky., who are visiting Dr. and Mrs. Dan Elkin on Penn avenue for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Rebecca Scott Candler has as her guests at her home on Oxford road Rosalyn Reid and Mildred Thompson, of Charlotte, N. C. Though these belles only arrived yesterday, they have already created quite a stir among members of the college set and every moment of their week-end visit is filled with parties galore.

Completing the family group of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brooks will be their sons and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Sharpe, who will arrive today from Memphis, and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Maddox, who will come from their home in Rome.

Always receiving a cordial welcome in the city are Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Robert Jr., of Washington, D. C., who are among the feted Thanksgiving visitors. Mr. and Mrs. Robert are en route home from a brief vacation spent at points of interest in Florida.

WHILE most of the social affairs of the Thanksgiving season are complimenting the many visitors in the city, another group of festivities has been arranged as a farewell to one of Atlanta's most popular young couples, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Upshaw, who leave soon to reside in Cincinnati, Ohio. Preston and Sophie Wright Upshaw have enjoyed a sincere popularity among their contemporaries and their departure is tinged with sadness, along with the happiness engendered by the splendid promotion that has come Preston's way in his business affiliation.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Watts entertained a group of close friends at tea yesterday at their home on North Hills drive honoring the couple, and tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. William J. Cordes will compliment them at a dinner party at their home on Lullwater road. Two affairs for Mr. and Mrs. Upshaw will mark Sunday's social calendar, the tea at which Mr. and Mrs. Hinton Longino entertain at their home on Brighton road and the buffet supper to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith at their home on River road. Mr. and Mrs. William Fulgum are planning a tea for Tuesday at the Piedmont Driving Club with Mr. and Mrs. Upshaw as central figures.

Leaving for Cincinnati with Sophie and Preston will be their two attractive young children, Anne, who is 7½ years old, and Preston Jr., eight months old. Sophie, who is one of the most enthusiastic workers in Atlanta's Junior League, will be greatly missed in activities of this organization. Atlanta's loss is Cincinnati's gain and Sally is sure that the Upshaws will soon become as well liked in their new home as they are in the one which they are leaving.

Parties Continue To Fete Debutantes.

Two delightful parties given in honor of popular debutantes marked the social calendar Wednesday. Mrs. Hugh Richardson entertained at a buffet luncheon at her home, Broadlands, on Peachtree road. Guests included Miss Laura Maddox, Katherine Newman, Nancy Stair and Miss Elizabeth Patterson, of Richmond, Va., the guest of Miss Newman. Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. George Adair Jr. and Mrs. Ivan Allen Jr., daughters of the hostess. Guests included 20 members of the Debutante Club and other members of the honor guests, Mesdames Robert Maddox, Henry Newman and Charles Stair.

Mrs. James Alexander Jr. was hostess at a bridge-luncheon on North Stratford road honoring Misses Nancy Jones and Elizabeth L'Eingle. Mrs. James Alexander Sr. assisted her daughter in entertaining. Guests included Miss Charlotte Sage, Dorothy Shivers, Christine Thiesen, Nelle Freeman, Catherine Campbell, Annette Hightower, Nancy Stair and Mrs. Tyre Jones, of Canton.

Quota Club.

"A Rhythm Party" featured the meeting of the Quota Club at the Atlanta Woman's Club Monday. A business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. John L. Harper. The members were led in folk dances by Miss Llewellyn Wilburn, director of physical education at Atlanta Scott College. New members were Misses Annie Laurie Hill and Allie Lee Felton. The club will hold one next month. Miss Jean Carson, Laura Marbut and Josie Slocum were named as the nominating committee, to report at the annual meeting early in January.

Nine O'Clocks Give Thanksgiving Dance at Piedmont Driving Club

Centering the interest of exclusive members of society was the elaborate Thanksgiving eve dance at which the Nine O'Clocks, prominent social organization, entertained last evening at the Piedmont Driving Club, the occasion assembling several hundred members and their visitors.

The spacious ballroom was transformed into a sunken garden, and an effective color note of pink and green was introduced into the decorative setting. The ladies' ceiling was covered with latticework entwined with flowers and vines. Latticework enveloped the white columns, and silver gazing balls and concrete benches added a picturesque touch to the garden. The orchestra stand was decorated with lace curtains and covered with pink flowers and willow trees.

John O. Chiles is president of the social organization and Charles Gardner is secretary and treasurer.

Debutantes Attending.

Miss Dorothy Shivers, president of the Debutante Club, wore wine-colored crepe with a full skirt and trimmings with 10 rows of sequins.

Miss Eloise Gresham wore a model of coral pink crepe made with a high neckline in front and a V-neck in the back.

Miss Laura Maddox wore a gown of pale pink tulle with a flowing skirt, and clovers made of pink and silver lame were applied on the back and front of the bodice. A bow was made of pink velvet and satin roses offset the costume.

Miss Katherine Newman was gowned in gold lace trimmings with a knee-length coat had chinchilla fur sleeves.

Miss Rosemary Manry was gowned in white satin made along flowing lines and featuring puffed sleeves.

Miss Anna Collier's costume was white and made with a belt around the waist over white taffeta and trimmed in silver sequins.

Miss Katherine Campbell wore a lovely model of pink metallic taffeta with puffed sleeves and a full skirt.

Miss Nella Freeman was gowned in black crepe featuring a full skirt and a bodice formed of silver sequins. A sequin bow adorned the neckline of the frock.

Miss Helen Hill Hopkins wore light blue satin with a swing skirt the neck line being adorned with rhinestones, etc.

Miss Betty Gregg was gowned in robin-egg blue faille, with sleeves puffed at the shoulder, and the skirt was very full.

Miss Martha de Golian wore black net fashioned on princess lines and applied with rhinestones.

Miss Sara Jenkins' dress was white taffeta embroidered in silver threads.

Miss Elkin Goddard wore black velvet made on princess lines.

Other Costumes.

Mrs. John O. Chiles was gowned in chartreuse crepe adorned with a cluster of carnations on the neckline.

Mrs. Robert Maddox Jr. wore a black tulle model trimmed in bands of black velvet. Mrs. Green Warren's dress was fashioned of pouree blue chiffon.

Mrs. Colquitt Carter was gowned in coronation blue crepe, offset by a sequin jacket to match. Mrs. Bonneau Ansley was attired in king's blue moire.

Mrs. Roby Robinson's black velvet gown was fashioned with a full hoop-skirt, and flowers edged in gold were applied on the edge of the skirt. Miss Ida Sadler wore emerald green slippers and a shawl with a green rose at the neckline.

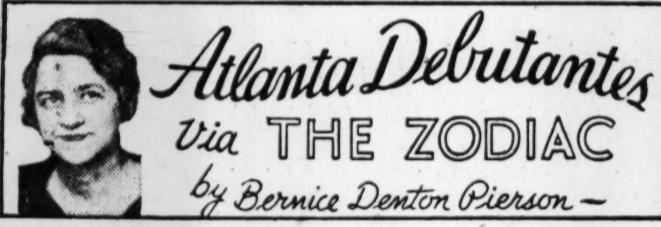

Miss Carroll Hopkins was gowned in black crepe trimmed with red. Miss Elizabeth Hopkins wore silver lame.

Mrs. Gus Loyles wore black velvet with point de Venise lace puffed sleeves. Mrs. James D. Campbell was attired in black velvet trimmed with emerald.

Mrs. Helen Dean wore turquoise blue chiffon. Mrs. Sam Mangham was costumed in black lace posed over black satin.

Mrs. Edwin McCarty wore black satin trimmed with rhinestones. Mrs. Everett Richman's gown was black satin trimmed with red, purple and blue velvet bands around the skirt.

Miss Josephine Meador was gowned in cell blue crepe. Mrs. Carroll Latimer Jr. was costumed in turquoise blue chiffon posed over blue satin.

"It matters not how straight the gate: How charged with punishment this scroll: I am the master of my fate: I am the captain of my soul."

EMILY SMITH

August 10 marks the natal day of charming Emily Smith, debutante at the Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Please prepare astrological forecast, according to the rules of astrology, of the birth date submitted below and return to the name and address given. I enclose:

1. Self-addressed, stamped envelope.
2. Ten cents in coin to cover mailing cost.

Birthday Year Mo. Date of M.

Name _____

Street Address _____

City & State _____

You may obtain as many astrological forecasts as you wish for your family and friends. There is nothing to do except send in the birth date, address and 10 cents in coin to cover the cost of mailing, in accordance with the postal regulations.

The Moon-Mars position shows her to be practical and enterprising. It adds much to the nature.

The position of the planet Jupiter becomes the promise of a happy and successful life.

Her colors are all shades from the palest yellow to deep orange or golden hues. Her stones are topaz and amber.

You can get your complete astrological forecast through The Atlanta Constitution, compiled by Bernice Denton Pierson, one of America's best known astrologers. Mrs. Pierson does not profess the ability to tell fortunes, to foretell the future, or to solve personal problems, but she can give you a complete and accurate reading of the position of the Sun and planets at the time of your birth, carefully worked out, according to the strict rules of astrology.

All you have to do is to fill in the coupon below, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, together with 10 cents in coin to cover the postage. You will then receive through the mail certain particular facts which deal astrologically with the Sun at the time of your birth, called a sun-chart, and with this sun-chart, a series of numbers which will enable you to identify the planetary interpretations, which we publish in The Constitution each day dealing with the influence of a given planet on the day of your birth, according to the rules of astrology. When you have checked each of your numbers your forecast will be complete.

Below are planetary indications, according to the rules of astrology, one of which may apply to your forecast. Every day these interesting forecasts will be published, descriptive of the influence of the planets at the time of your birth.

The astrological forecast includes a sun-chart and planetary interpretations, designated by numbers on your sun-chart. Watch carefully day by day for your numbers.

My Day

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK CITY (Tuesday)—Yesterday I enjoyed that rare thing for me, an evening of leisure. I dined on a little table in front of my fireplace, read all the things my brief case contained that I had been waiting to read for days, did some knitting that required a little bit of attention and could not be done automatically in the presence of a group of people who were talking, wrote some letters, paid some bills, and enjoyed the company of a friend.

This morning realization was forced upon me that now and then we have to take certain preventive measures to keep ourselves in good condition, so, most reluctantly, I wended my way to the dentist. He treated me most kindly, however, until I was ready to leave—then he announced that I would have to have at least two more appointments, possibly three, which didn't please me at all as I want every minute to spend in Christmas preparations.

My daughter, son-in-law and I had lunch at the Hotel Algonquin. As usual, we had so many things to talk about that after I left them I remembered half a dozen questions that I had not even asked. Well, we will meet again on Thanksgiving Day at Hyde Park, and I imagine that will be time enough.

Today two taxicabs men told me that they were making a living, doing much better than a year ago, which is always nice to hear. One of them amused me very much. Said he, "I think I am doing well when I can support my mother and look after myself."

I inquired if he were married, and his response was, "No, I am happy, I live with my mother."

Everybody seems to be in a very friendly frame of mind. It may be the Christmas spirit. But then again it may be just the fact that during the campaign all of us worked off all the animosity we had in us, and now we can let ourselves go and be really Christian.

If anyone in the world is entitled to a bad temper, I think it is a traffic cop on Fifth avenue. Nevertheless, as I was crossing Forty-fourth street, the policeman recognized me and came over to speak to me as we waited for the lights to change.

"I know the President well," he said. "You tell him I was asking after his health. He looks better every time I see him."

With that, the lights changed and he piloted me across the street, saying as he went along, "Don't you be in such a hurry."

Miss Ogletree Weds

William R. Bond
At Trinity Church

Miss Virginia Ogletree became the bride of William Rafe Bond at a beautiful afternoon ceremony solemnized yesterday at the Trinity Methodist church. The Rev. W. R. LaPrade read the marriage service which was witnessed by an interested assembly of friends and relatives.

Palms and ferns massed the altar in the church. The bride's bouquet was a basket filled with giant white chrysanthemums. Standing in relief against the background of rich foliage were floor vases filled with white chrysanthemums and alternating with standards topped with seven-branched candelabra holding lighted tapers.

The ushers were N. Hiers, G. E. Martin, D. D. Doty, G. M. Martin. Miss Mary McCullough was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. She wore an afternoon gown of dusty pink lace, featuring a cowl neckline, puffed sleeves, and a long, flaring skirt. Girdling the waistline was a sash of Dubonnet velvet, which had a fringe extending from the hemline. Miss McCullough's hat was an off-the-face model of maline to match her gown, banded with Dubonnet velvet ribbon. Her flowers were an old-fashioned nosegay, with shades of blue predominating in the flowers and tied with blue ribbon.

The bride entered the church with her father, William Vernon Ogletree, who gave her in marriage. They were preceded by William Newton Hiers, small nephew of the bride, who acted as ring-bearer and carried the ring.

of white chiffon velvet. The bodice featured a cowl neckline with a soft rolled collar of the material and the back was finished with tiny velvet buttons. The sleeves were long and fitted snugly in a point over the hand. The floor length skirt flared into a slight train and she wore a small turban of plaited velvet with a tiny lace veil. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of bride's roses, valley lilies and showered with swansons.

Miss Patillo, mother of the bride, wore a gown of royal blue lace fabric.

Acting as ushers were Charles Patillo, brother of the bride, and Joe Bodenhamer, cousin of the groom.

Mrs. Asbury Baldwin was matron of honor and the bride's only attendant.

She wore a gown of light blue moire taffeta which featured short puffed sleeves and a small collar finished the becoming neckline and her skirt was floor length. Her hair was styled in a cluster of American beauty roses and she wore a shoulder cluster of American beauty roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. Kendall, mother of the groom, wore a blue crepe shot with silver with blue accessories and her shoulder spray was of pink roses and valley lilies.

The lovely bride was given a program of musical music.

An artistic arrangement of palms and foliage plants graced the back of the altar and three groups of white chrysanthemums interspersed with seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers were placed in front of the greenery.

The marriage of Miss Nell Patillo, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Patillo, of Deatur, to Ernest Pope Kendall, was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the First Methodist church in Deatur at 5:30 o'clock. Dr. Franklin N. Parker, dean of Emory University Theological school, performed the ceremony in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. C. W. Dickens organist presented a program of spiritual music.

Following the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Patillo entertained at an informal reception. The bride's table was overlaid with a cloth of lace and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake embossed in roses and valley lilies encircled by silver candelabra holding white tapers.

Miss Williams
Weds Mr. Powers
In Quitman, Ga.

QUITMAN, Ga., Nov. 25.—Miss Beth Williams and William Cooper Powers were married here Thursday afternoon, the quiet ceremony being solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Williams at 5:30 o'clock. Rev. Mr. M. Marshall, of the Methodist church, performed the ceremony, witnessed by members of the families and a group of intimate friends and was characterized by simplicity as well as beauty.

The bride's costume was a modish afternoon dress in a light colored green fashioned with a swing waist and a jacket fastened with brilliant clips. With this she wore a hat and accessories in black. Her corsage was of lavender orchids and the only jewel she wore was an old-fashioned gold and diamond bracelet which had belonged to Mr. Powers' mother. For traveling the bride added a black Hudson seal coat to this costume.

The bride has been associated with the Quitman Press since her graduation from school and has developed into a very versatile and capable newspaperwoman. Her special column under the caption, "This Weary World," which appears on the editorial page of the Free Press each week is a widely read feature and two years ago was awarded a silver trophy in the Georgia Press Association at the best column in a Georgia weekly.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Williams of Quitman and her brothers are C. L. Williams of Madison, Fla.; Nat Williams, of Thomasville; her sisters are Mrs. Philip Wathen, of Carrollton, Fla.; Mrs. Harry Marshall, of Atlanta; Miss Pearl Williams. In her ancestry is a mixture of Irish and French strains which may well account for her charming personality and her witty newspaper style. Two grandmothers, Nancy O'Lafferty and Rebecca O'Brien, were in Ireland; on her mother's side her grandfather, P. E. Pournelle, of French descent. This interesting ancestral background also includes a cousinship on the paternal side with President Andrew Jackson.

Mr. Powers is a popular young businessman here and the eldest son of the late C. M. Powers, a leading merchant for many years. His mother was Miss Annie May Cooper. Fred Powers, of Jacksonville, Fla., is his brother. He is a graduate of the University of Georgia, and his standing was excellent. The couple will reside in Quitman and the bride will continue her newspaper work.

INSTALLMENT XXVI.

"All right, señor," he said to Shane. "I feex it. Please you drive the car in here, huh? We leave it there with you, primo?"

So with a little difficulty, owing to the narrowness of the street, Shane twisted the car around and at last got it into the garage, which it comfortably fit.

"Yeah, mebbe," agreed Jose unshaven, "The primo's soon gonna do something. They gotta get outta jail, make knives sharp and catch pistols, and come kill Meester O'Hara an' Jose Verdugo. No good. You see Rattlesnake, you keel him. Then no ratte more I betcha."

Nevertheless, Shane overcame his objections to less drastic methods. Shane wanted to know a lot of things that a dead man couldn't tell him, nor help him to find out.

He wanted to know who had killed Black Sam.

He wanted to know who had tried to kill him by shooting through the window.

He wanted to know who constituted the gang with which Black Sam had been manifestly connected, and which apparently had used Rancho Paloma in its nefarious traffic.

He wanted to know where Black Sam had gone, the considerable amounts of money he had received, and from whom; to whom he had paid it, and why.

He wanted to know quite a few things this young man who less than a fortnight before had been an incurious young man about town in Soledad.

It had been decided between them that it would not do to take the chance of being seen entering the town together. Therefore immediately they were past the bridge, across the line, Shane, at Jose's direction, turned the car to the right, and ran down a side street, bumpy and dusty, and deserted.

A hundred yards of this and they came to a ramshackle filling station and garage, a small frame building in the middle of a block where it seemed to Shane there could never be any demand for gas or oil or repairs. A shirt-sleeved Mexican sat on a bench by the doorway smoking a brown paper cigarette. He looked suspiciously at the big car as it swung up and came to a stop, but continued his calm puffing. What need to arise until he was certain that something was wanted?

"If he arose every time a car came down the street, he would be getting up a dozen times a day. Life was too short to work like that. Jose halted him from the car, calling him primo.

At the sound of Jose's voice, addressed by the doorway, he rose, slowly and still puffing, and came forward a step or two.

"Oh," he said, in Spanish. "It's you, Jose, eh? You want gas?"

But Jose, without reply to the inquiry, slid out of the car, took his cousin by the arm and led him into the garage. Then, for several minutes, Shane heard a rapid fire of Spanish going on. At the end of which Jose appeared at the doorway.

JUST NUTS

An artist's idea of the First Thanksgiving.

There came a time when only the well and strong could do no work, the weak, nay, the disease, but it is believed to have been a lung disease—possibly "galloping consumption."

Men, women and children died—in a few months nearly half had passed away.

Spring came at last, and with it an Indian named Samoset. The white men made amends by sending him a meal and the word "Welcome!" Later they learned that he had met some English fishermen, who had come to the New England coast a year or two before. The fishermen had taught him a few of their words.

Samoset was treated kindly, and was given lodgings overnight. After he with you. There is a reason, which I will presently explain. Now find Pepito and send him to us. And then do you prepare a bedroom for the señor. Sweep it, Margarita. Make it to be clean. Put fresh sheets on the bed. See that there is clean water—these Americans do not like to use wash-water more than once, which is probably why they are so pale. And let us have for supper plenty of food, for I am hungry. Tortillas, beans, chili and some tamales. I will bring beer and tequila. Here is money for the food, and he handed her a dollar.

The woman Margarita went away, and presently the sound of a muffled voice was heard arguing with her.

"Pepito," said Jose, and went out of the room to talk at considerable length with his cousin. Shane sat and judged he might smoke—in view of the age of the house, the floor and windowills and tiles, etc. Funny people, the Mexicans—but they surely helped each other. And apparently had a lot of fun doing it. The right of any member of the family to walk in unannounced for a few days stay, but with him an American guest—to order arrangements for the household as though it were his own. Well, didn't he recall that the usual Spanish greeting to a guest was, "House is yours." Apparently they took this literally.

Shane was left to his own devices, after Pepito had been brought in and provided for. A small, wizened little man was Pepito, weighing about a third as much as his fat esposa, Margarita. But he had brilliant black eyes, very restless and intelligent, and was not badly dressed, and was most polite, assuring him that the house was honored by the Señor Americano, who had sent him to him to make him comfortable and to give him plenty to eat and a clean bed to sleep in, he, Pepito, would beat Margarita until she howled like a dog. Absolutamente, señor. Como un perro!

After these assurances, Jose explained that he and Pepito would go and drink tequila and see what they could find out about the Rattlesnake.

Continued Tomorrow.

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

Some men always seem baffled by a lap supper.

There are some men who never seem to learn how to handle a tray or a napkin. It's a mystery to me. Because they can do the job of tray balancing very gracefully in cafeteria. But put them on some one's newly covered couch, with a tray in their laps, and they start losing control. It's inevitable.

When we find ourselves seated next to one of these helpless gentlemen we like to balance our tray on one knee or the other, or our own, you understand—and offer to take the poor fellow's tray. This gives us a great chance for quiet exhibitionism. And usually it startles him into feeding himself.

Perhaps it's simpler to use the verbal cure, however. You can make almost any man face his tray sensibly myself by suggesting that he look at the whole tray as a problem in engineering or a study of gravities. Then put him on some one's tray with his hands under his chin, and offer to take the poor fellow's tray. This gives us a great chance for quiet exhibitionism. And usually it startles him into feeding himself.

The friendship which sprang up with the Indians was of great value to the whites. The Indians gave the settlers corn and other foodstuffs, and in return received knives and beads. Samoset and Squanto told the whites how to plant Indian corn, and fishing guides during hunting and fishing trips.

There was a good harvest of corn, and the governor of the colony decided to have a feast. This feast was "the first Thanksgiving" held by white men on our continent. To the teepee camp of Squanto and many of the warriors in his tribe, the Indians helped supply the food. With bows and arrows they shot deer and wild turkeys, and took their game to Plymouth. Meanwhile, the Pilgrim women and girls spent days "boiling and baking and roasting."

The great feast came at last, and around tables spread in the outdoors. Eighty or 90 Indians were guests, and they seemed to enjoy themselves during these three days of feasting.

In looking back we see great cause to feel kindred toward the Indians who helped those early English settlers. The Indians gave care for planting, and taught the whites how to care for it. Success in growing crops meant life for the colony, and was a greater gift than gold.

Wallace Finds Conservation Plan Is Effective Substitute for AAA

Secretary Wallace said here yesterday the federal soil conservation program is proving an effective substitute for the invalidated AAA.

"Of course, the soil program still is in its infancy and necessarily will need revision and strengthening," the head of the agriculture department said.
